THEY WON BY GOOD PLAYING

After a Long Contest, the Visitors Are Defeated by the Earnest Hoosiers.

It Was a Game with Brilliant Features and a Dashing Spirit Throughout-Chicago and St. Louis Victors-Memphis Races.

It was in accordance with the general fitness of things that the Hoosiers should win the third game from the Cleveland team, and they did it in good form at the League Park yesterday afternoon, about 1,200 people enjoying the contest. While the score was large and the batting heavy on both sides, the game was a good one because both teams played hard to win, and showed an earnestness in their work that made it all the more creditable. The fielding of the Hoosiers was even and at times brilliant, but the visitors' playing was rather indifferent that respect. Getzein worked like a Trojan, and, barring the fifth inning, kept the hits well scattered. Denny, Glasscock, Bassett, McGeachy and Buckley all did good work, and the whole team played together in fine style. For the visitors Stricker made the best showing. Tebeau, though he made two errors, did good work at third, making several very difficult stops and assists. The decisions of umpire Barnum were impartial, though there was a great deal of protesting on all sides. He was probably mistaken in sending Radford to first, on balls, in the second inning, but otherwise he made no decisions that could be honestly questioned.

Indianapolis secured her first run in the second inning. Buckley reached first on Tebean's fumble, but was forced out by Bassett; Scheneck was hit by a pitched ball and Getzein's fly was muffed by Radford, and Bassett scored. In the third, Glasscock made a single, and went to third on Tebeau's failure to handle Denny's grounder. Meyers followed with a fine double, and McGeachy's single cleared the bases. The hitting was continued by the Hoosiers in the next inning and four more tallies next inning, and four more tinued by the Hoosiers in the next inning, and four more tallies were added to the score of the home team. Getzein led off with a good hit and stole second, Hines went out on a fly to McAleer, Glasscock was given first on balls, Denny followed with a safe drive for a single, Myers's grounder was fumbled by Gilks, and McGeachy's fine two-baser sent everybody home.

The home team was retired in order in the fifth, but in the sixth a base on balls, a passed ball, and singles by Denny, Buckley, and Bassett netted two runs. The seventh resulted in a blank. McGeachy made a hit in the eighth, stole second, and scored on Buckley's grounder to the fence. The visitors having pulled up uncomfortably close, the Hoosiers rallied again in the last inning and sent three men around the bases. Schæneck and Getzein reached first on four bad balls. Hines forced the latter out at second and Glasscock got his base on a fielder's choice. Then Denny sent them all home by a fine single. The visitors did not do much with Getzein's pitching until the fifth, when they found the ball and hammered it hard. Tebeau led off with a double, went to third on Sutcliffe's out and scored on Sprague's single. Stricker followed with a two-base hit and came home on a two-base hit and came home on a two-base hit by Gilks, after McAleer had struck out. Twitchell made a hit and scored Gilks, but was put out himself trying to reach second. Glasscock fumbled Sprague's grounder in the seventh, and the runner made the circuit in successive hits by Stricker and McAleer. The former was raught between bases and run down, but Twitchell's double brought McAleer home. The last run of the game was made in the ninth on a base on balls and singles by McAleer and Twitchell.

Boyle or Whitney will pitch for the home team this afternoon, but Manager Loftus had not decided last night whom he would put in. The score:

The mare is a daughter their position of leaders in the pennant race. The Chicagos pounded Galvin deliberately and decisively. In the third Kuehne passed a grounder, and with two singles and a double the Chicagos netted three runs. Cincinnati's Sixth Consecutive Defeat. Sr. Louis, April 26.-The Browns continue to keep up their magnificent winning streak, defeating Cincinnati again to-day for the sixth successive time. They outplayed the visitors at every point, and batted out the victory with ease. Smith was not as effective as formerly. Chamberlain pitched in wonderful form, and was beautifully supported throughout. Boyle especially showing up strong behind the bat. Boyle got in his accustomed three hits.

Why Anson Was Angry. Pittsburg Dispatch.

Maul had made a hit and was at first base. Beckley was at bat and "Silver" Flint dropped a pitched ball close at the plate. Big Jake commenced to dance around and whoop, evidently to lead Flint to believe that the ball was among his (Beckley's) feet. "Old Silver" took the bait, and be-fore he knew the ball was in another direc-tion Maul was safely at second. Oh my! but that rattled the old captain, and, with a majestic stride and stern countenance, he came in to argue the question with Umpire Lynch. Amid the wrangle, Maul dodged toward third, and Gumbert foolishly threw the ball to second base when no fielder was there. Maul continued until he crossed the home plate, and the run counted. Anson stopped to argue no longer, and gave little or no demonstration of his methods of objecting during the balance of the game.

Cannot Understand It.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: The management of the ball club has given notice that it will dispose of Shreve and Burdick. Now the records of last year show that Burdick pitched more winning games than Boyle (our crack pitcher?). Can you tell us why it is that in the face of that the managers will let Burdick go? We certainly have a right to ask, as the managers come around to us and ask us to buy season tickets, and we buy them. It is possible that we expect too much, but I do not think so I may be a B. B. C. but you must admit that it is rather inconsistent, between two pitchers, to let the winning one go and keep the best (1), but losing one. SEASON TICKET OWNER.

TORONTO, April 26.—The conference of ministers of the Anglican, Presbyterian and Methodist churches, which was in session here for two days to consider the question of organic unity of all Protestant bodies, closed last evening. The sessions were of the most interesting character, the representatives of the churches declaring that they would result in great good to the whole Christian church. The utmost harmony prevailed, although doctrines were discussed upon which all were not in unison. The subjects before the conference were: "Organic Union," "The Amount of Unity in Doctrine," "Worship and Modes of Action between the Three Bodies," "The Historic Episcopate." A resolution was adopted recommending to the several churches the appointment of delegates to another conference to be held next year. . Efforts to Unite Protestant Bodies.

Portland, Ore., April 26.—A collision occurred, last night, in the Willamette river, a few miles below Portland, between the British ship Danube and the American ship Alliance. The Danube was bound for this city, from Victoria, and the Alliance was bound down the river. The Danube struck the Alliance on the starboard bow, cutting a fearful gash and ripping the hull below the water line. The Alliance began rapidly sinking, but was quickly beached. All the passengers from the Alliance were safely transferred to the steamer Lurden, which happened to be near. The damage to the Alliance is not heavy. The vessel is valued at $40,000, and insured for $20,000. Most of her cargo will prove a total loss. The Alliance now lies in an easy position. The steamer will be raised and repaired. The damage to the Danube is light. British Ship Collides with an American.

NEW TRUSTEES IN CHARGE

The Insane Hospital Is Now Beyond the Control of the Harrison-Gapen Board.

The Old Trustees of Other Institutions Propose to Remain in Office Until Questions Applicable to Them Are Settled.

Joseph L. Carson, Dr. Hauser and Thomas Markey, composing the new board of trustees for the Central Hospital for the Insane assumed the management of that institution yesterday. As the decision of the Supreme Court had quieted their titles to the trusteeship no obstacles were placed in the way of their taking charge. It being the last Friday in the month, the day on which bids for supplies are regularly opened the old board was present. At 10 o'clock in the morning the incoming trustees went to Room 25 in the State-house, where that business is transacted, and there met Dr. Harrison, and Philip Gapen of the old board. Dr. Harrison, as president of the retiring board, was asked if he was ready to surrender the management of the institution, and he replied he was if the new trustees could show their commissions. Three large sheets of paper, handsomely printed in red and green ink, were at once produced, and as the bold signature of Alvin P. Hovey, Governor of Indiana, appeared on each, the Doctor said he was ready to place his trust in new hands. He wished his successors a prosperous term of office, and took his departure. Mr. Gapen gave the new board the bids received for supplies, and the work of opening them and awarding the contracts for the month of May at once began. While this was going on the door, contrary to the custom of the old board, was left open, and people were permitted to come in and see what was being done. Mr. Gapen remained for a short time to furnish the trustees any information about the

The work of awarding the contracts was completed by noon, and after dinner the trustees drove out to the hospital, and spent the afternoon inspecting it and forming an acquaintance with the employes. Dr. Galbraith received them courteously, and gave them all the informa-

The trustees on returning from the hospital had but little to say regarding their plans. A business meeting will be held early next week, when they will be definitely considered. There was a brief consultation last evening, and Dr. Charles E. Wright was notified that he had been elected superintendent. Dr. Wright will not take charge of the institution until the middle or latter part of next week. It may be that the new superintendent will have trouble in getting possession, as Dr. Galbraith manifests a disposition to remain in charge. He takes the same position that Dr. Fletcher did when he was discharged; that he was elected for a term of four years, and that he cannot be ousted until his term has expired. Dr. Galbraith began his services in the institution about a year and a half ago, and, therefore, according to his position, has three years and a half to serve. Unless he changes his present determination the new board will have to bring suit against him and have the courts pass upon the claim board will have to bring suit against him and have the courts pass upon the claim he asserts. The trustees, though, do not think they will have any difficulty of getting rid of the Doctor. They take the ground that the investigation by the last General Assembly showed that he is incapable for the position, and they say the report of that committe affords an ample charge upon which to relieve him of the office he holds.

Dr. Harrison maintains that he is still charge upon which to relieve him of the office he holds.

Dr. Harrison maintains that he is still president of the boards having the management of the Blind Asylum and the Deaf and Dumb Institute. As the decision of the Supreme Court in reference to the Carson board does not apply to any other benevolent board, the old trustees of these institutions will hold on until their claims are tested in the courts. Dr. Harrison says he will continue to serve as president of these boards. As he has given bond, he will not surrender the office until the members of the new boards appear with commissions signed by Governor Hovey. The Governor said before going East that he would not issue commissions to any of the other officers elected by the Legislature without further litigation. The Governor understands, from the decision in the Carson case, that, while there are certain specified instances in which the Legislature may elect, as provided in the Constitution, in all other cases it has no right to do so. The Insane Hospital trustees, the warden of the southern prison and the State Librarian make up the list of officers which the Legislature can elect. The officers elected by the Legislature still without commissions are the trustees for the Blind and Deaf and Dumb Institutes, the trustees of the additional hospitals for the insane, the State Statistician, the custodian of the State-house, and the Chief of the Bureau of Geology and Natural Science. These officers can only get possession, if at all, by bringing suit against the Governor to compel him to issue their commissions, as the Carson board of trustees did. The Governor has given it out as his intention, in case the mandamus proceedings are not brought, to appoint persons to fill the positions, and the two sets of contestants for the offices will then be compelled to test the question in court. Prof. Gorby, whom the Legislature elected Chief of the Bureau of Geology and Natural Science, has been asked to take the court. Prof. Gorby, whom the Legislature elected Chief of the Bureau of Geology and Natural Science, has been asked to take the initiative step by bringing suit, and he will likely do so. It is probable that either he or some other one of the outs will have a suit ready for filing in the Circuit Court today or Monday.

Legal authorities claim that under the recent decision of the Supreme Court the trustees of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind institutions are executive appointments. When the Con-and the Blind institutions are executive appointments. When the Constitution was framed the institutions were governed by boards chosen under a law enacted by the Legislature of 1847. That Legislature elected trustees for each of the institutions; one trustee was to serve for two years, one for four years, and one for six years. By the act it was provided that whenever the term of one of the trustees should expire, his successor should be appointed by the Governor. It is therefor claimed that these offices are still of executive appointment.

Dr. Wright Complimented. The faculty and trustees of the Medica College of Indiana last night elected Dr Charles E. Wright as the professor of dis eases of the mind and nervous system. This was done by a unanimous vote.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE-"LITTLE LORD FAUN TLEROY." There was a large audience at the Grand Opera-house, last night, when that charming story, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," by Mrs. Burnett, was illustrated in a series of twenty-eight tableaux, with music and readings. The latter was by Miss Marion Sterns, of Springfield, Mass., who gave the story, and as each portion was de scribed, the corresponding tableau to the Alliance is not heavy. The vessel is valued at $40,000, and insured for $20,000. Most of her cargo will prove a total loss. The Alliance now lies in an easy position. The steamer will be raised and repaired. Arranging with Its Creditors.

New York, April 26.—The A. B. Cleveland Company, seed-dealers, of No. 27 Courtlandt street, is arranging with its creditors to care for its indebtedness by the issue of bonds to run three years, to the amount of $425,000. A chattel mortgage to secure the bonds has been filed by the trustees, who are Contad N. Jordan, president of the Western National Bank; H. K. Thurber and Peter W. Gallaudet. Two chattel mortgages for $30,000 each have also been filed in Jersey City to secure the First National Bank of Jersey City. The whereabouts of A. B. Cleveland, who fied the city last January, is still a nystery. The debts of the company, it is thought, will not amount to more than $300,000.

THE GERMAN LUTHERANS.

Presence of Christ Discussed and Matters Per taining to the Church Considered.

The second day's session of the middle district of the German Evangelical Lutheran Synod at St. Paul's Church yesterday was well attended throughout. The morning meeting was devoted to discussing the doctrine of the real presence of the body and blood of Jesus Christ, as implied in the Lord's supper. This, it was held, is the correct doctrine for the church worship, for it is possible for Christ's body and blood to be wherever He wills to have it. His ascension into heaven, miraculous as it was, does not render this omnipresence impossible, and its representation is held sacred in the sacrement.

At the afternoon session Rev. G. Haefner was elected assistant secretary. The matter of home missions was discussed to some extent. It was decided that the Second congregation of Louisville, which is embraced in the middle district, should receive $200 annually for two years toward the support of a pastor. The same appropriation was made for the congregation at Elmo, O., while to that at Brazil $300 was allotted, and to that at Orrville, O., $100. The joint synod of Miszouri, Ohio and the other States, of which the one in session is a part, has now about 1,500 congregations, 700 parochial school teachers, two theological seminaries, two colleges, one normal school and a number of benevolent institutions. Included in the latter is one for the deaf and dumb, located at Norris, Mich. The semi-centennial celebration of the founding of Cordelia College, to be held at Ft. Wayne in June, will be a fair example of the growth of the church's institutions. It was first originated with two professors and eight students. At the present time it has seven professors, one assistant and 225 students. In the evening a divine service was held, ceive $200 annually for two years toward In the evening a divine service was held, conducted by Rev. H. Weseloh, of Cleveland. He preached on the subject of missions, covering the work of the denomination during the past year in that particular line of work. The session will continue Francis Murphy's Opinion. Francis Murphy, who has been stopping at the New Denison House for a few days. preparatory to entering upon a series of meetings at Richmond, Ind., was asked what he thought about the constitutional amendments that were defeated in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. "I consider the verdict of the people as shown in the the verdict of the people as shown in the defeat of the amendments, as a victory for practical temperance. They have all the prohibition they can enforce in those States now. What is wanted is not further legislation, but the enforcement of the laws that now are on the statute books. The present license system is to restrict the sale of liquor. Some people claim this evil could not exist if it were not for license. But it does exist, and without the restriction of license it would become a pestilence. If such license laws as they have in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania cannot be enforced how can anyone expect to enforce an absolutely prohibitory law? It can't be done,"

Forgot His Tickets. In Governer Hovey's hurry to catch a train for the East, Thursday, he forgot his package of tickets admitting him to all the privileges to which his distinction entitles him at the centennial celebration in New York. Fearing that he might not be promptly identified in the great hurry of sight-seers at the metropolis, he telegraphed from Cumberland, Md., for the credentials. They were sent by express, and will reach him this morning. After the tickets were sent, two more packages, for additional sights and ceremonies, were received at his Early yesterday morning, the police captured Abe Russell and Jack Price, who are supposed to have entered Coburn & Jones's office Thursday night. After being frightened away by the night watchman, it is said they entered the plumbing establishment of Knight & Jillson, 75 S. Pennsylvania street; Mannfeld's clothing store and the Eagle clothing house, on East Washington street, but in the three places they failed to secure plunder. They were each bound over yesterday morning to await the action of the grand jury.

A Fact

tion of this statement comes to hand daily. Even such deep-seated and stubborn complaints as Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, and the like, are thoroughly eradicated by Mrs. R. Irving

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertise ment in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months. I am plete cure, and that I have since had no return of the disease."

Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H., writes: "One year ago I was taken ill with rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."

"I have taken a great deal of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I felt its beneficial effects before I had quite finished one bottle, and I can freely testify that it is the best bloodmedicine I know of."—L. W. Ward, Sr., Woodland, Texas.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA BREAKFAST. "By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digastion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy dectors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. MAGNIFICENTSHOWING

The following analyses having been made at different seasons of the year of

C. MAUS'S LAGER BEER,

Is good news to his patrons, as they show that his BEER is of uniform and even strength at all times, regardless of the changes of the seasons. The high percentage of Extract and Maltose and the low percentage of Alcohol indicate that the BEER is a nutritious and wholesome beverage.

"The samples of Beer received from your brewery were analyzed by us with the following result:

	May 8, 1888.	August 16, 1888.	March 16, 1889
Extract	5.50	5.85	5.65
Maltose (unfermented sugar)	1.25	1.99	2.08
Alcohol	4.00	3.92	3.76
Lactic Acid	0.178	0.180	0.126
Albuminoids	0.817	0.726	0.816
Ash	. 0.216	0.220	0.243

"The Beers analyzed must be considered of normal good composition. From the rather high percentage of Albuminoids, Lactic Acid and Ash, we would judge that the Beer is a PURE MALT BEER; no substitute for malt having been used. Respectfully,

"WAHL & HENIUS,

"Chemists and Directors of the Scientific Station for Brewing, Chicago, Ill."

All Beers in kegs or bottles furnished from my Brewery are guaranteed to be made exclusively from Malt and Hops.
